ICI WORLD OF JOURNALS

All journals may be registered in the ICI World of Journals database. The database gathers information on international scientific journals which is divided into sections: general information, contents of individual issues, detailed bibliography (references) for every publication, as well as full texts of publications in the form of attached files (optional). Within the ICI World of Journals database, each editorial office may access, free of charge, the IT system which allows you to manage your journal's passport: updating journal's information, presenting main fields of activity and sharing the publications with almost 200 thousand users from all over the world. The idea behind the ICI World of Journals database is to create a place where scientific journals from all over the world would undergo verification for 'predatory journals' practices by scientific community. The ICI World of Journals database allows journals which care about completeness and topicality of their passports to build their citation rates and international cooperation.

All journals may be registered in the ICI World of Journals database. The database gathers information on international scientific journals which is divided into sections: general information; contents of individual issues; detailed bibliography (references) for every publication, as well as full texts of publications in the form of attached files (optional). Within the ICI World of Journals database, each editorial office may access, free of charge, the IT system which allows you to manage your journal's passport: updating journal's information, presenting main fields of activity and sharing the publications with almost 200 thousand users from all over the world. The idea behind the ICI World of Journals database is to create a place where scientific journals from all over the world would undergo verification for 'predatory journals' practices by scientific community. The ICI World of Journals database allows journals which care about completeness and topicality of their passports to build their citation rates and international cooperation.

ICI JOURNALS MASTER LIST

The ICI Journals Master List is an international indexing database of scientific journals. In order to be indexed, the journal needs to successfully pass the evaluation process involving a multidimensional parametric evaluation based on more than 100 criteria; journals which successfully pass the parametric evaluation are awarded the ICV (Index Copernicus Value) index – valid for one year only – which reflects the development level of the journal and its impact range.

The ICI Journals Master List has been conducting a complex evaluation of scientific journals for over 10 years. In 2015, over five thousand journals successfully passed the evaluation process. We invite you to submit your questionnaire.
